A career oriented programme on "How to avail Employment opportunities" was organised by computer Science Department on 23rd november 2021. Eminent Engineers Mrs Lata Rao and Dr. Sibsundar Mazumdar were the chief guests of the workshop. As the keynote speaker, Mrs Lata Rao addressed the participants and elaborated on different ways to find a job from searching in industry publications and browsing the internet to subscribing to job search emails.

A good communication skill and commanding knowledge on their own field is extremely important to find a proper job. There are many different ways to find a job —

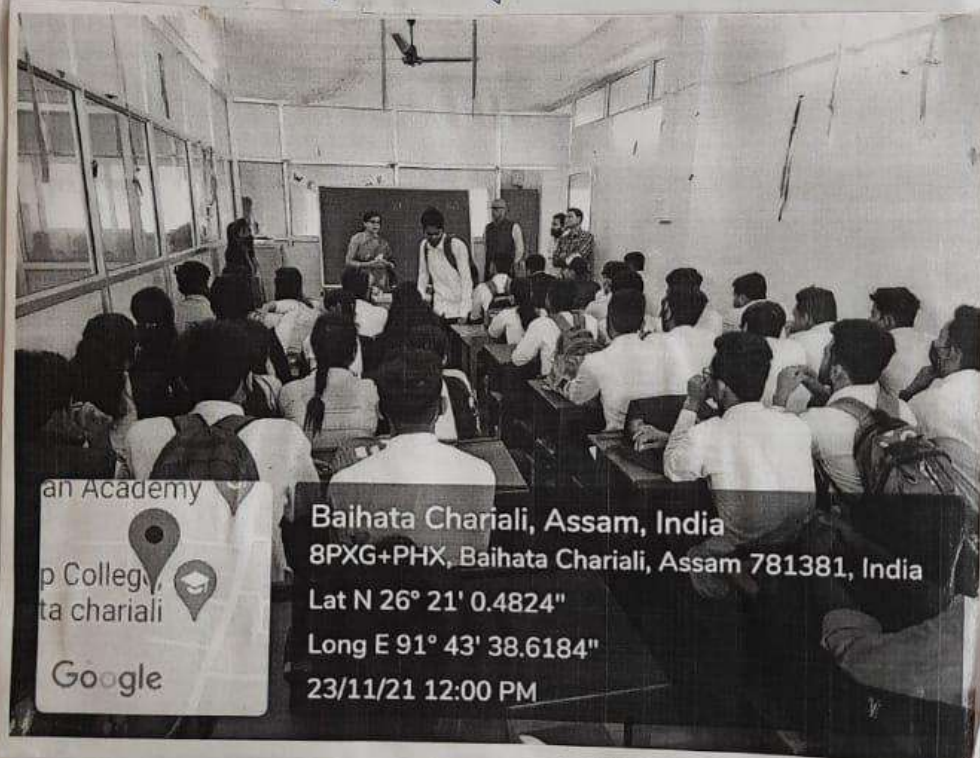

① contacting the companies directly is much more convenient in the current times. Job searches have become much more straightforward now a days because most companies have websites where they candidates can apply directly for available ~~option~~ positions listed through their websites.

③ job fairs or career fairs is another convenient approaches to look for a job. A job fair aims to get companies and potential employees together to network and share information. These events are frequented by big companies that are looking to recruit large number of employees as well as fresh graduates have training programs.

Apart from discussing these various approaches of seeking jobs, Mrs Lata has also highlighted upon the importance of proper communication skill in English in today's competitive world. Fluency in speaking English has extreme importance in the field of employment to find lucrative job offers and candidates having good command over the language often receive high package from their companies.
